anker high security cylinder systems

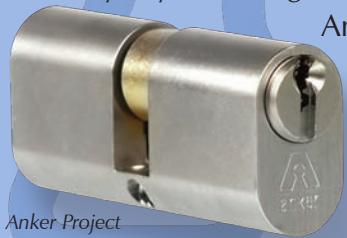

two systems

Anker offer two high security cylinder systems: The 9300 Series patented key profile and the exclusive 3800 Series magnetic key system.

9300 Series

patented

Anker 9300 key profiles are patented until 2015. This patent will prevent other manufacturers from taking advantage of the unique key profile/keyway matching technology used to develop Anker's system.

secure

The security of any key lies in the excellence of the technology and the control of the supply of key blanks. The subtle variations of the 750 key profiles of the Anker 9300 series make them extremely difficult to copy. A key blank must not only enter the keyway: it must position itself correctly within a tolerance of four thousandths of an inch to work properly. The availability of all Anker 9300 key blanks is tightly controlled. Contracted Anker dealers are authorised to hold only certain key profiles.

No other keycutters are allowed to buy Anker 9300 key blanks.

your own key

More than 140,000 different keys can be made on each Anker 9300 key profile. The key profile allocated to your Anker dealer is not available to any other Anker dealer within an agreed area. Any lock provided by your Anker dealer can therefore be keyed to a code that for all practical purposes is unique to you. The dealer may register your keys and will then be able to provide you with immediate local service but without sacrificing the tight control necessary for your peace of mind.

a master key

Your Anker dealer is highly trained to be able to provide appropriate locking arrangements for all circumstances. If you require locks for an office suite, a factory, a college etc. he can plan and assemble a master keyed suite that will give maximum convenience to authorised users: every key will enable its holder to operate only those locks he/she is allowed to operate. An appropriate master keyed suite can give security and efficiency to any organization - from large institutions with hundreds of key holders to small local businesses with half a dozen people.

3800 Series

magnetic key system

For applications demanding the ultimate key security Anker Magnet 3800 series offers absolutely no compromise. The cylinder has four sliding tumblers each with a pair of magnets which react to eight four-position magnets on the keys; plus four pin tumblers of unique design.

No key blanks are ever sold and the making of illicit copies is virtually unthinkable.
